Verbal Description:

This piece is slightly curved vertically and has a very rough, uneven back side which is very unlike a censer wall. It may be a large applied piece or flange. There is an applied horizontal strip of clay (1.2 cm wide) above an applied lump projection. To the right of this is a diagonal line of rough clay, such as seen where something has been applied. At the bottom of this line is a hemispherical break in the edge which may be part of a pierced hole.
